A photograph of a double en-suite room. In the foreground, a white wrought-iron railing with ornate scrollwork and balusters is visible. Behind the railing, a large stone fireplace with a brick archway is the central focus. The fireplace has a dark, patterned metal insert. The wall above the fireplace is made of rough-hewn grey and brown stones. To the left, a portion of a bed with a blue coverlet is visible. The overall atmosphere is rustic and elegant.
